HOUSE RULES - GDPR

Accommodation providers have an obligation to provide data to MTÜ (<https://mtu.gov.hu/>). Upon arrival, the guest is obliged to the host to hand over for the purpose of data collection (with a BM document reader) the personal documents (passport or identity card, address card). You can read more about mandatory data provision here: <https://vizainfo.hu/szallashelyek> If you do not want to hand over your documents to the owner of the accommodation, the guest is also entitled to record guest data in advance by himself.

Since the NAV requirement requires the service provider to invoicing obligation, and the mandatory element of the invoice is the name and address of the invoiced party, furthermore, since the owner issues an invoice, this is an obligation we need your address card and e-mail address in that case too. The operator declares that the data of the guest/guests will not be used for other purposes, only and exclusively for the above obligations, as well as an owner does not store data in printed form. On the computer stored data is stored until the possibility of a complaint expires.

Payment on arrival: Upon arrival, the guest must pay the remaining amount of the accommodation fee, if it has not yet been paid. Our guests can book the rooms only after paying the full service price!
